Braids And Bows A Book

The main differences between the two books are: 1) "Hair" has more updos than "Braids and Bows," most of which are not in the latter book (I think I counted seven updos that are in "Hair," but not "Braids and Bows"); 2) for the dos that are the same, "Braids and Bows" has more styling options geared toward the younger set (for instance, not just the ponytail, braid, and braided bun, but also the double version of each: pigtails, pigtail braids, and Thumbelina braids).

Step 1: Create a french braid anywhere you'd like. Step 2: Gather a section of hair just behind the braid and spritz with water. This step really helps to create the bows! Step 3: Stick the top of your hairpin through a section of the braid. Step 4: Take a very small section of hair and create a loop. Thread the loop through the hairpin.

Holding on the top of the loop, pull the pin through the braid. This will create your first bow! Hold the top, otherwise it will just pull the loop out! Your first bow! Step 9: Tuck the tail. As you see, we have a tail that remains. To cover, simply tuck the tail along the top of the braid. It will be covered by all the bows you will make.
